

ACTION SPEAKS LOUDER THAN WORDS

The proverb reminds that what we do has more significance than what we say.

Actions carry much more weight than words when building trust. Furthermore, trust is very important in every type of relationship. Without trust, no relationship can survive.

Moreover, it's easy to try to build trust by speaking some words. However, building trust through actions is not so easy. Merely speaking words will never create a long-lasting healthy relationship. What really matters in building solid relationships are the actions.

Actions are a huge requirement when committing to goals. Most of the students make great claims when it comes to goals. However, those claims or words will be without any value if not backed by action. Many children say things and make promises they have no intention of keeping on a daily basis.

Similarly, people make grand New Year resolutions for their careers. But these resolutions will certainly be nonsense talk if the person makes no effort to pursue his or her goals.

A word spoken in season is like an Apple of Gold set in Pictures of Silver, and actions are more precious than words.
