Today, let everyone of us take time to reflect on the lessons learned during the lockdown.

What have you discovered about yourself? What new skills have you built? What fears have you overcome? How did you manage your family and yourself in the anxious moments. How did you build your hope? How did you prepare yourself for the post lockdown?

What did you observe in your children? Do you know their strengths and weaknesses? Did you help them to overcome their weak points? Did you discovered their hidden talents?
